One of the most remarkable picture sales this country has ever known came in the disposition of the pictures of the Thomas

E. Clarke collection at New York last week. All these pictures were painted by

RUDYARD KIPLING ILL.

Suffering from Inflammation of the Lungs

At the Hotel Grenoble in New York—

Physicians Say His Case is Serious

but Not Critical.

Rudyard Kipling is suffering from inflammation of the lungs at Hotel Grenoble in New York city. The physicians say his condition is serious, but not critical.

Everything possible is being done for him and the fact that he has a vigorous constitution in his favor. Mr. and Mrs.

Kipling, who arrived with their children in New York three weeks ago, had a rough passage across the Atlantic, and after their arrival Mrs. Kipling and the children were ill. Mr. Kipling seemed perfectly well until Monday, when he attended several dinner parties given by his friends since his arrival, but has declined to accept any invitations of a semi-public nature.

He visited his publishers, Doubleday &

McClure, Monday, and seemed to be in the best of health. He attended a dinner party that evening and after his return to the hotel complained that he did not feel well. He refused to have a doctor called in, however. The next day Dr. Theodore Dunham, who married Josephine Bales-ter, was summoned. He found that Mr.

Kipling was suffering from inflammation of the right lung. Later Dr. E. G. Janeway, the specialist, was also summoned.

The disease must run its course, but there is nothing to excite alarm. When the fact of his illness was made known Wednesday inquiries were received from all parts of the country and Great Britain.

Mrs. Kipling soon found herself absolutely unable to cope with these inquiries.

Many of those who called at the hotel sent her cards to him, but she was busy nursing her husband and saw no one. Early in the day, however, it was thought best to issue a bulletin, which remained on the clerk's table of the hotel. This bulletin announced that Mr. Kipling was suffering from inflammation of the right lung. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the following statement was issued:

"Mr. Kipling has an inflammation of the right lung. This produces the usual fever. There are at present no complications.

E. G. JANEWAY.

THEODORE DUNHAM.

A bulletin will be issued at 8 a. m. on Thursday. This is all there is to say. Mr. Kipling is ill.

Mrs. Kipling will be greatly obliged if friends and newspaper men will be kind enough to refrain from calling, as she is utterly unable to see any one.

Dr. Dunham was in almost constant attendance on his patient Wednesday. He was assisted by Mrs. Kipling and a trained nurse.

Later Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Kipling made this statement for the newspapers:

"Mr. Kipling is doing just as well as can be expected under the circumstances. I am every day. His illness is, of course, one of those that must run its course.

Everything that the doctors can tell they have said in their bulletin. I realize how many people are interested in my husband's condition, and I have asked the doctors to issue a daily bulletin. There is nothing to add to what they have said, and I hope that relatives and the newspapers will take these announcements as being full and satisfactory statements. Beyond this I have nothing to add, and I do hope people will not put me to the necessity of refusing to see them. Should any change occur a bulletin will be issued at once."

His Condition Yesterday.

Rudyard Kipling's condition was described at 10:30 p. m. yesterday by his physicians in the following bulletin:

"Mr. Kipling has had a fairly comfortable day, though in the late afternoon and evening, as usually happens, the symptoms have become about as they were last evening, not worse."

"There is nothing that I can add," said Dr. Janeway. "Our patient is doing as well as can be expected."

"Has pneumonia attacked the left lung yet?" he was asked.

"When it does," he replied, "we will inform you."

Dr. Dunham has engaged a room on the first floor of the hotel Grenoble, next to the suite occupied by his patient, and is now in constant attendance.
